Dear Ron Baruch,

On behalf of all of us at Angkor Hospital for Children (AHC), we would like to thank you for your contribution of 1,000USD for the Teddy Bear Project, 200 Kinderkits, and 200USD for ten tuk tuk trips, to be used at the discretion of the hospital for patient needs. These donations will make a great difference here in the field. As you know, Cambodia is a truly beautiful place, but is still challenged by endemic poverty and disease. Your contribution will enable us to continue to help improve Cambodia's healthcare system, and will directly help the children here at AHC.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at any time if you would like more information about the daily activities of Angkor Hospital for Children. Also, should you wish to visit Siem Reap, Cambodia and stop by the hospital for a visit, please let me know, as I would be glad to take you on a tour of our facilities. In the mean time, please visit our website at <https://angkorhospital.org> to learn more about us and ways you can get involved. Our success depends on good relationships and increasing the number of people catching on to our vision.

On behalf of the staff, children and families at Angkor Hospital for Children, please accept my most sincere thanks and gratitude for your support.

The Angkor Hospital for Children, founded by renowned Japanese photographer Kenro Izu in 1999, supported by Friends Without A Border, provides comprehensive medical care to children in the Siem Reap area. On average, 400 children and their families arrive at the hospital each day. Recognized by Cambodia's Ministry of Health as an official teaching hospital, it serves as a training site for health professionals throughout Cambodia through its Medical Education Center. The Capacity Building and Health Education Program works to both strengthen the capacity and improves the quality of local health centers and works with community members to teach good public health practices. Charity Navigator, America's leading independent charity evaluator, endorses Friends Without A Border with four stars.
